THE VULCAN ADVOCATE, WEDNESDAY, JULY 29, 1964

Vulcan, Alberta

Vulcan will never be the same. For years the cement sidewalks along the main streets have been in a state of slow deterioration and now their rebuilding has found its way on the crowded works agenda of town crews. Two of the crew, Nicholas deJong and Johnny Fedorchuk, are pictured above with jack hammer and shovel breaking up the surface in front of Willard Equipment.

T & C Cleaners Open New Plant At Lethbridge

A change of name from Town & Country Cleaners to Town and Country Fabric Care Cleaners & Laundry is announced in this issue of The Advocate, coincident with opening of a new plant at Lethbridge by this dry cleaning firm.

Senior partner in the firm is William Yee, operator of the Vulcan plant since its start. The company also operates a dry cleaning plant at Taber, managed by Eddie Mah. The Lethbridge plant will be under the supervision of Mr. Yee, who will continue to reside in Vulcan and operate the Vulcan plant.

On Racehorse Creek

Calgary Girl Rescued From Mountain Stream

A Sunday outing along Racehorse Creek, 18 miles north of Coleman turned into tragedy for one man and but for the courage, swimming and life-saving ability of Lynda Dann of Vulcan, would have resulted in the drowning of another member of the group.

Otto Joseph Comin of Coleman drowned as he attempted to rescue his 12-year-old son Robert and niece, Roxanne Graham of Calgary from a small but deep pool at the junction of the Racehorse and Vicary creeks. The children were apparently wading in the creek and stepped out of their depth into the hole estimated to be about 12 feet in depth.

A group of about 25 Vulcan district residents including the Ben and Walter Dann families, the Carl Steiners, Howie Marshmans, Howard Spaeths, Howard Burrells and Glester Giles were spending Sunday at the Racehorse campgrounds and were attracted by sudden excitement some distance along the creek. There were no experienced swimmers in the group present and 15 year old Lynda Dann, who was fishing about a quarter of a mile away, was summoned. The Comin boy had been pulled out without difficulty but by this time about four minutes had gone by since the Graham girl had gone under. In her first few attempts in the cold mountain stream Lynda was able to recover the 11 year old girl but by this time her skin coloring was bluish and she appeared in hopeless condition. Luckily a Pincher Creek man, Lewis Blair, who is a qualified first aid instructor employed by the Canadian Pacific Railway, was on the scene and applied mouth-to-mouth artificial respiration for about 15 minutes and removed the girl.

Attempts were made to drag the bottom of the turbulent deep hole with boulders tied to ropes to recover Mr. Comin but without success. Then the water was allowed to clear and the body was sighted in the deepest part of the pool. Lynda went down again and was able to bring the body to the surface near shallow water where help was waiting.

With the assistance of a forest ranger, artificial respiration was applied to the victim until the arrival of the RCMP and coroner, W. A. McLeod of Pincher Creek, who pronounced the man dead.

Lynda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Dann, has been swimming at the local pool for several years, has taken instruction in swimming and life-saving and has her bronze medallion. Pool supervisor Dale Phillips describes her as a good strong swimmer and she is presently taking instruction towards a bar to the bronze medallion.

Lewis Blair who was instrumental in saving the life of Roxanne Graham, was at one time an CPR agent at Ensign during the '40's and was a leader of the Brant-Ensign Cub and Scout movement at that time.

Services Held July 25 For R. J. McFadden

Robert John McFadden, aged 63, a well known farmer of the Ensign district, died suddenly at Vulcan on Wednesday, July 22, 1964.

Born in the County of Armagh Loughall, Ireland, he came to Ontario as a child in 1905 and to the Ensign district in 1915. He was an honorary member of the Vulcan Branch No. 21, Royal Canadian Legion.

Besides his wife, Olive, he is survived by one daughter, Miss Daphne McFadden, Calgary; two sons, Donald, Kitimat, and Jack, Ensign; four grandchildren: one sister, Mrs. D. A. (Mary) McDonald, Brant; a step-mother, Mrs. Evelyn McFadden; three half-sisters, Mrs. Patricia Comstock, Kirkcaldy, Mrs. Bernice Jeske, Red Deer and Mrs. Frances Galightly, Calgary; and three half-brothers, James McFadden, Ensign, Joseph McFadden, Cayley and Thomas McFadden, Red Deer.

Services were held at the Vulcan United Church on Saturday, July 25, conducted by the Rev. Bruce W. Fyke of Champion. Pall bearers were Eric Thorp, Jim Williams, Archie McIntyre, George Eamorr, Floyd Swartz and Albert Markert and interment was in the Vulcan cemetery.

The Vulcan Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Light Horse Group Plans Trail Ride

A meeting of the Vulcan and District Light Horse Association was held Monday at Daniells' Tire Shop with a good attendance.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Visitors Pete Silbernagel and Keith Healy explained the point system presently being used by the surrounding riding clubs. Much discussion followed.

An overnight trail ride was organized for the weekend of August 8 and 9. Due to the small membership fee in effect, a motion was made and carried that members only be allowed to participate in any of the trail rides.

Morley Scobie volunteered to act as guide and Jack Deans as camp boss. Bob Cutler was appointed as trail boss.

Everyone desiring to take part is to contact Ruth Christensen no later than Tuesday, August 4, so plans may be organized. A meeting to finalize the details will then be held Wednesday evening August 5 at Daniells' Tire Shop.

At this time Jack Deans reported on the meeting of the Southern Alta. Council of Riding Clubs Association that he and Norman Hilz attended on Thursday, July 23. An amendment to the stake rule rules was proposed and the opinion of all riding clubs was sought. After detailed discussion, the members voted to approve the amendment.

A jackpot gymkhana is being held Saturday, August 1, at the Symon's Valley Rodeo Grounds, Calgary and entries are being accepted until 11:30 of the same day.

The meeting then adjourned with a short directors' meeting following. Norman Hilz was appointed as delegate to attend the monthly meeting of the Council in Okotoks. Bruce Daniells consented to act as alternative.

With a force of 3,000, Montreal has the largest police force of any Canadian city, and all told there are about 17,000 policemen and policewomen employed by Canadian municipalities.

Group entertainment and relaxation are provided for in the newly opened Peter Dawson Lodge. Green finished material over mahogany woodwork is used in the lounge type chair styles of this room along with metal chairs at the centre table. This room leads down the wide corridors to the bedrooms, and dining room, smoke room, lounge, library and out to the main entrance.

Musical Camp Week Enjoyed

Alberta Music Camp, band camp to about 19 Vulcan musicians, ended Saturday, July 18, with an afternoon public barbecue and concert at which awards for the week's achievements were made. No Vulcan names were on the list of winners but the young folk in attendance felt they had received their reward in a week of fun, flats and sharps with the over 100 students attending.

The boys and girls were assigned to one of four bands classified A to D, made up of beginners and on to the more experienced musicians. There was an average of from five to six hours of practice each day so swim time and hours of relaxation became somewhat precious as the days flew by.

Director Art Dee was enthusiastic about the camp and was generally pleased with the conduct of the boys and girls. Discipline was firm but still relaxed enough to see many students, the girls' supervisor, Mr. Dee and band leader Gary Venables tossed into the swimming pool fully clothed as the week progressed.

It was mentioned in a previous story that the swimming pool had been donated by a Phil Fath who used to be in this area. The only Phil Fath is still in this area, living near Champion, and for the information of his relatives who are wondering why he did not give them a pool first, the camp pool was not his doing. Actually the pool was built by a tradesman named Bill Fath and the campsite land was donated by a farmer in the camp area.

The name of Ron Andrews was omitted from a previous attendance list.

The final engagement for the summer for the Vulcan band was at Champion last Wednesday when they entertained at the Champion Lions' barbecue in conjunction with the two-day baseball tournament.

It's only too easy to get into dangerous financial waters!

There's nothing wrong in the simple act of borrowing money. It is a perfectly normal financial transaction, and most of us do it at one time or another, for a variety of reasons. But before you negotiate a loan, you should give the matter careful thought . . . be sure the repayments you agree to make are within your budget, and that the interest rates are within reason . . . assure yourself that you're borrowing sensibly and safely. This is when you should seek the friendly advice of your local Treasury Branch Manager. Your Treasury Branch makes loans for all sorts of worthwhile purposes, with convenient repayment terms and at reasonable interest rates. Borrow where you know you're safe, at your Treasury Branch.

Decorating the library wall of this well-known resident of the Peter Dawson Lodge is a much treasured painting done by Charles Northcott, Sr., himself a member of this Vulcan senior citizens' home. Now in his 70's

One of the 18 bedrooms of the Peter Dawson Lodge which are designed and equipped for double occupancy, is shown above. These are bright cheery rooms and each has a toilet and washing facilities. Fourteen bedrooms for single occupancy are similarly equipped.

— LAST WEEK'S MARKET REPORT —

FRIDAY, JULY 24th BEEF AND FEEDER SALE—

Our market was definitely lower with the packer buyers being absolutely indifferent. Bear in mind that some people who write and broadcast market reports have a tendency to make the picture "too rosy." For every steer that is making $23 there are hundreds at $22 or less and this also holds good for the feeder trade, and the high priced cattle are also on the heavy order. Our yearlings are meeting a poor demand. We would call the market as follows: Strictly Choice Steers $22.50 to $23; Good to Low Choice Steers $21 to $22; Strictly Choice Heifers $20 to $20.50; Good to Low Choice Heifers $18 to $19.50; Good Cows $13 to $14.50; Common Cows $10 to $12.50; Canners and Cutters $6 to $9.50 or subject. The Feeder Market is also sour. A good rain would soon fix this but at the present it sure is a buyers' market. Our best Stock Steers sold at $21.50 with most we had on offer at $20 to $21. Feeder Heifers are hard to move with extreme top to $19; Bulk at $17 to $18.

SATURDAY, JULY 15th PIG AND MILK COW SALE—

The dry weather also had an effect on our hog market and pigs could be classed as 50c to $1.00 lower. As we have mentioned before if you think you know more about what your stock is worth than we do — then don't deliver them to us. Our market agency will endeavor to get for you every last dollar that your stock is worth and wherever we think that we are not getting the job done — we will pass them out! Piglets $6 to $8; Common Weaner Pigs $7 to $8.50; Good Weaner Pigs $8.50 to $10.50; Good Feeder Pigs $11 to $25; Piggy Sows $40 to $65; Boars $12 to $30; Baby Calves $12 to $35; Milk Cows very slow unless they are outstanding.

PLEASE HAVE YOUR CONSIGNMENTS IN OUR BUILDING BEFORE 1:00 O'CLOCK ON SALE DAY

FRIDAY, JULY 31st, at 1:30 p.m.—

Regular Beef and Feeder Sale. We have the buyers.— "Bring us your cattle and receive that little extra."

We are OPEN TILL 11:00 P.M. on Thursdays.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 1st, at 1:30 p.m.—

Regular Pig, Sheep, Horse and Milk Cow Sale. Market Your Butcher Hogs Through the Foothills Livestock Pool Ltd.

Farm Shelterbelts

Next to a good layout for the farmstead itself, there is probably no other project that will improve farm living conditions so much as a good shelterbelt. The benefits for many years to come will far outweigh the time and effort required to get it started.

Well-grown shelterbelts check the wind and moderate extreme heat and cold. They help to accumulate moisture from melting snows and reduce evaporation in gardens, orchards and ornamental plantings. They encourage bird life, provide year-round beauty and comfort as well as enhancing value of the property.

Here are a few basic rules for planting a good shelterbelt from P. D. McCalla, Supervisor of Horticulture with the Alberta Department of Agriculture.

1) Prepare a definite and complete plan of your tree planting program before preparing the land. You can undertake a part of it each year until the program is completed.

2) Summerfallow the land the year before it is to be planted.

3) Allow at least five acres for the farmstead itself.

4) Leave the front of the farmstead open. Specimen trees or a low hedge can be used for this area.

5) Plant low growing shrubs on the outside row of the shelterbelt.

6) Do not plant evergreens in the same row as broad-leaved trees.

7) Do not plant trees closer than a hundred feet to any building.

8) Fence the windbreak against livestock and guard against fire damage.

9) Leave room between the tree rows for cultivation. The width left will depend upon the type of machinery used for cultivation.

Mr. McCalla says his department is now taking applications for next year's supply of free trees from government nurseries. Contact your district agriculturalist for a list of 1965 tree varieties and an application form or write to P. D. McCalla, Supervisor of Horticulture, Alberta Department of Agriculture, Legislative Building, Edmonton.

LOMOND

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Teasdale and Mrs. Jim Teasdale motored to Claresholm on Sunday of last week to visit Dick's father Thomas Teasdale.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery are extended to Mrs. Ralph Lindstedt, a patient in St. Michael's Hospital at Lethbridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Ruppert and family were weekend visitors at Scapa and Youngstown with Marie and Eric remaining for a visit.

Friends will be sorry to learn that Mrs. W. Chapman is a patient in the Vulcan Hospital again. All wish her a speedy recovery.

Miss Connie Ruppert of Youngstown is a visitor at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Ruppert and family.

Congratulations are extended to Bill Bolduc of Lomond who exhibited the Reserve Champion Hereford Bull at the Lethbridge Exhibition last week. He also had some first, second and third entries in other Hereford Calf Classes.

Mrs. Lena Huff is a visitor at the Art Huff home at Hoadley, Alberta.

BIRTHDAY CLUB MEETING
On July 10th the Birthday Club met for their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Albert Johnson. The meeting opened by all seven members and two visitors joining in singing Alice Blue Gown. There was little business to attend to.

The proposed club outing was not decided upon in the hopes that more members would be on hand in August to voice their opinion. The meeting closed by the singing of The Old Spinning Wheel.

Mrs. Rose Stanko was the winner of the raffle. Mrs. Johnson had three young girl friends very ably help serve a delicious lunch thus relieving the usual club committee.

The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Ann Stannard's home on Aug. 13th.

Mrs. Marie Zambaldi
Honored At Farewell Party
A pleasant social evening was held at the Lomond Community Hall on Friday evening, June 17, when a good number of friends gathered to honor Mrs. Marie Zambaldi with a farewell party.

The evening was spent playing Norwegian whist and cribbage and visiting. Presentations of gifts were made by the following: Mrs. Jack Gerhan, on behalf of the Good Will Service Clubs; Mrs. Paul Ost, Jr., for the Ladies' Curling Club; Mrs. Peggy Lay, for St. John's Anglican Guild, and a purse by Reg Frost on behalf of her many friends who all wish her much happiness in her new home at Lethbridge.

Mrs. Lay sang several solos with Alec Fraser playing the piano. The evening ended by all singing For She's a Jolly Good Fellow, followed by a lovely lunch.

FOOD FIT TO EAT

Now that school is finished and warm weather is here, picnics and camping trips will be in full swing. Along with the fun and companionship comes a hazard:

Food Borne Illnesses

Food poisoning is generally a result of one of the following: Food containing poisons (toxins) produced by harmful bacteria. Food containing disease producing bacteria (germs). Food containing parasites that can infect man (worms in meat). Naturally poisonous food (such as some mushrooms).

The recent outbreak of typhoid fever in Scotland is one example what can happen with food borne illness.

Another example is — sixteen persons experienced acute stomach upsets five hours after a picnic. Egg salad was suspected as being the cause. The eggs had been boiled and shelled early in the morning and mayonnaise and relish added. The salad was not refrigerated.

A case of botulism occurred as a result of eating home canned chili. The symptoms were vomiting, dizziness, difficult breathing and blurred vision. The chili had been canned under insufficient temperature and pressure. This permitted a toxin to form.

Prevention of Illness Starts With The Food

If you're preparing and serving food, your hands should be washed thoroughly and often. You should not handle food if you are ill or if your hands are infected with cuts or burns. Potentially hazardous foods such as meat, eggs, milk and cream pies should be refrigerated at all times. All containers used for storing, transporting, preparing and serving food should be of smooth, easy to clean, non-toxic materials. Use a pressure cooker to can all meats or low acid foods. This will destroy any toxins present. Be certain that you know the plants you pick for eating. Hazardous foods (readily perishable) should be kept either hot (140 degrees F.) or cold (45 degrees F. or below) until serving.

When you are preparing food for your next get-together, be sure to follow good safe food practices. Help prevent food borne illnesses from occurring this morning.

What have they done to our old school, will be the cry of students in a month's time as they file back to Vulcan and classes. They may need a guide for their first few days as additional wings are being constructed to include vocational training this year. Above is the general view of the street front of the addition while below a bulldozer scoops dirt in front of the "old" original building. Construction superintendent John Zoobkoff says work is progressing pretty well on schedule and it is expected the building will be completed by

Huge Scout Camp Project Unfolding At Beautiful Pincher Creek Setting

(By Peter Pickersgill)

Camp Impesa. It is expected and hoped this name will ring in the mind of every Boy Scout and Wolf Cub in the southern area of the province in years to come as synonymous with the high point of the Scout year — annual Scout camp.

At present the mention of Camp Impesa raises mostly the dander of more than one wife and family whose summer fun time is being lost or rerouted into week-ends of somewhat pioneer living as husbands form local work crews to help in building construction at the camp.

Located about 24 miles southwest of Pincher Creek and adjacent to Bill Loose's Buckhorn Guest Ranch, Camp Impesa is, or will be, 240 acres of multiple campsites which through the present maze of poplar, fir and jack-pines, fronts Beaver Mines Lake. The whole setup looks straight up at Table Mountain, over 7,000 feet of as rugged and inviting a chunk of rock as any Scout could hope to have within climbing distance of his tent flap.

Lease of the area was secured by the Southern Alberta Region whose objective is to make one huge camp available to Scouts from all towns in this half of the province. Under the chairmanship of Andy Holm of Lethbridge, each district volunteers some part in the building of this endeavor and Skeez Christensen of the Lake McGregor District Council has a large hand in the construction end of Vulcan's contribution. This includes a 24 x 52 foot centre lodge and several Cub huts.

Earlier this year Skeez bought the Christensen family a beautiful trailer which was to see many sun-filled journeys this summer. So far it has made it to Camp Impesa and has reached the stature of a camp cook-car and bunk-house.

This spring bulldozers broke a trail through the forest, dense enough to draw the comment from volunteer Carson McKay: "By gosh, I'd hate to let a gang of Scouts loose in here — 50 feet into the woods and they'd be lost for good."

Two weeks ago, aided by cement man Merle Smith and his equipment a work crew poured the foundation of the building. In the party were Carson, Alex Grant, Doug Grant, Gordon Decker, Swede Robertson, Neal Dumka, Wayne Woodman, Dave Shust, Dick Hammer and Skeez. Heavy rains caused the trail to almost disappear and cement and equipment had to be loaded onto pickup trucks which were pulled by a "cat" about a quarter of a mile to the headquarters site from base camp of the trailer. Other problems, and there were many, became minor after this one was surmounted. A second crew made up of Evan Munro, Brian Todd, Gordon Decker and Danny Hagg finished the floor the following Wednesday.

Camp cooks involved at various times were Sylvia Graham, Brenda and Norma Christensen.

Last weekend the regular, unpaid cook, Ruth Christensen found a houseful of reasons to turn down the sortie to the south country and the Pickersgill family of one cook, three sure-fire two-legged problems and a jack-knife carpenter, were conned into the deal. Others with varying degree of hammer skills who volunteered were Gordon Decker, whose dog Tiny had a large voice which attacked every forest sound in the night, and Scout Leader Ken Houlton who brought along a carload of Vulcan Scouts for a dry run at camp.

Arriving early Saturday morning was a truck lowboy full of rafters and materials and an added crew of Glen Graham, Brian Todd and Terry White. The efficiency of the latter two boys was marred by the fact that back home were wives all set to add another Scout or Guide to the pack. Come sundown Saturday night they headed for home and judging from the work accomplished Sunday, it would appear the best of the crew left early... except for bossman Skeez, that is.

Another group of local volunteers worked on the home front at the Revelstoke Lumber yards, pre-cutting lumber and building rafters, prior to last weekend.

All sorts of incidents made the weekend one to remember. Like the Todd truck pulling into camp minus complete tread and rubber from one of the dual tires, or the Vulcan scouts who found their thirsty way to the base trailer and a good swig at an inviting jug of Kool-aid which turned out to be only the powerful concentrated syrup. Or the pair who got wild with a crowbar while taking forms from cement and ripped up a perfectly good 2x6 base for a door step, or the atrocities that were committed on 2x4's with a saw.

However, the frame is up, rafters laid, part of the roof is on and Chairman Holm and Southern Alberta Region Executive Commissioner Ric Clarke viewed the sight with joy, so it's going to be a success.

Now comes the pitch. One more weekend with many active hands is needed to pretty well complete this phase of Vulcan's contribution. If you have a boy or girl today who will be a scout or guide tomorrow, do them a good turn now. Skeez's phone number is in the book.

FROM THE PASTOR'S DESK

(By Laurie Hale)

No matter how low a man may fall, knowing that someone is interested in him, that someone cares whether or not he sinks or swims, is often a powerful incentive and helps him to rise. That interest, that little attention shown may prove to be the stepping-stone that will aid him in climbing out of his undesirable condition. That faith, expressed, may point him to the path that leads upward. A little word of love often has been the means to change the entire life of a careless man. Sometimes the change in a man is so slight that one scarcely perceives it. But no kind word or deed can be entirely wasted.

Recent Wedding Unites Mossleigh-Vulcan Couple

A very lovely wedding, presided over by Rev. Anthony Pearce of Calgary and Rev. Ronald Pelham of Vulcan took place on June 13, at 4:00 o'clock in the Church of Christ. At this time Carolyn Rose, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Haga and Jack Hugh, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Leslie of Mossleigh, were united in the bonds of holy matrimony.

Organist Bill Tompkins played a very suitable prelude to offset the following events: During the time the ushers, Jerry Murphy of Elmore and Tom Leslie, brother of the groom went forth to light the candles. After they had taken their places with the groom and best man, Darrell Laughlin, the lovely attendants of the bride, Judy Haga and Merla Robertson and maid of honor Dawna Haga, solos accompanied by Bill Tompkins.

Following them was a very dainty little figure, Miss Susan Clark of Calgary, cousin of the bride.

Ivan Haga, father of the bride, then escorted his daughter to the altar to meet her groom. At this time, Mrs. Jean Gardner sang the lovely Wedding Prayer. Following the ceremony she sang, I'll Walk Beside You.

The bride's lovely white full-length dress and full-length train was offset by a rose corsage on a white lace-covered Bible. She wore a pearl necklace and earrings which were a gift of the groom. The bride's attendants were dressed in blue and carried pink carnations while her maid of honor wore pink and carried a corsage of pink roses. Susan, the little flower girl, was dressed in a long white organza dress with pink flowers over taffeta offset by a cummerbund. As Susan walked to the altar she scattered lilac petals from the little basket which she carried.

Mrs. Haga, mother of the bride, wore a turquoise linen dress, highlighted with beaded work and white accessories. Her corsage was of tallismans roses. The mother of the groom, Mrs. Roy Leslie, wore a lovely blue chiffon dress over taffeta with lace which was offset by a yellow rose corsage and white accessories.

Following the wedding ceremony, photographs were taken by Norman Soder of Hanna. A reception then followed at the Vulcan Lodge Hall, which was attended by 145 guests and catered to by the Candlelight ladies. This event was presided over by master of ceremonies H. Mumby. A toast to the bride and bridesmaids was given by Verna Haga, uncle of the bride, and a toast was given to the bride's parents by Howard Spaeth. Jack Thurber of Blackie then presented a toast to the groom's parents followed by two vocal solos by Brenda Haga, sister of the bride. Jack Thurber then presented two lovely violin solos accompanied by Bill Tompkins.

After opening gifts the bride changed into a yellow linen suit with brown accessories and a red rose corsage.

Following a honeymoon spent in the United States, the young couple have taken up residence on their farm at Leslieville, Alta.

ENSIGN

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Sprinkle of Assumption, Ill. were recent visitors in the Ensign, Calgary. Lyalta and Castor districts with their cousins, the Helges, the Fergusons, the Smiths, the Wades and the Duguids. Mrs. Sprinkle is the niece of the late John R. Duguid.

John McFarland of Missoula, Mont. and his grandson Jack McFarland of Clinton, Mont. are visiting relatives in the province. He is the nephew of the late John H. McFarland. At Ensign they were visitors at J. Helges and A. Fergusons; at Calgary they visited the H. Smiths; at Lyalta the F. Wades, and at Castor J. Duguids; going north from Calgary to visit cousins: Mrs. Harry Jones and family at Olds; Mrs. N. MacLeod and family at Ponoka, and Miss C. McFarland and her brother Jim at Edmonton. His farthest point north will be Peace River where they will see the Hans Huber family and Howard Schwintd at Grande Prairie. This was Jack McFarland's first trip to Alberta and he seemed very impressed with the country and wondered how it got so flat up here.

McFARLAND REUNION

The annual McFarland re-union picnic was held again this year at Red Lodge Park, July 4. Weather conditions just previous dampened the spirits of some. But 46 members of the family manifested the McFarland pioneer spirit, and sat down to a table loaded with fried chicken, roast turkey, salads of every description, and pies and desserts of every color and hue.

The weather was perfect and the younger generations took to the wading pool in a splashing fashion. Games of horse shoe and ball were enjoyed by some; visiting and renewing family relationship occupied the time of others.

The eldest grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. John H. McFarland, W. D. McFarland, wife and two younger children Wendy and Michael of Edmonton joined the clan this year. Mr. McFarland is the head of the welfare department for the province of Alberta. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee McFarland of Penticton, B.C. were not able to be present.

This was the third family picnic. The first was held three years ago at the Carseland picnic grounds. On that occasion the late Mrs. John H. McFarland's three nieces: Mrs. Esther Tice, Mrs. Elizabeth Brook and Mrs. Margaret Briscoe from Stillwater, Oklahoma were special guests. At that time when supper was nicely over, the picnic came to a sudden and abrupt end when the Alberta weather started to show what it could do in the way of one of those terrific dust storms rolling in from the north, sending picnickers racing for their cars clutching small children and grabbing flying picnic equipment.

But this year there was none of that. After taking pictures of the different generations present, lunch was served again. Then came the fond farewells, each member wending his way home with happy memories and a glad anticipation in his heart for a bigger and a better family reunion next year.

REPORT FROM PARLIAMENT HILL

Lawrence E. Kindt M.P.

During the week commencing July 6th the government at last presented parliament with some legislation, and the House of Commons immediately got down to work and passed it. This legislation included the Defence Minister's Bill to make certain changes in the Defence Department, and, in particular, to establish a single Defence Chief for Canada.

The next item was the Youth Allowances Bill, which, in effect, extended Family Allowances to students until their 18th birthday, if attending school. This was followed by legislation establishing (with some exceptions) territorial jurisdiction for a distance of 12 miles over the waters surrounding our coast. Other legislative items will follow during the coming week and doubtless, will also receive prompt attention. The leader of the opposition pointed out to the government that when legislation, such as mentioned above, was presented to parliament it would receive careful, efficient and constructive scrutiny by the opposition and would be dealt with promptly.

Actually, this was the first time since the present session of Parliament commenced that the government has presented parliament with a series of legislative items which could be dealt with. The only other major legislative items this session were the Columbia River Treaty and amendments to the Farm Credit and National Housing Acts which, likewise, received prompt passage in the House of Commons. Until now the time of parliament was largely consumed with the debate on the Throne Speech, the budget debate, the passage of budgetary items (of which there were very few), a series of Supply Motions, Interim Supply (on two occasions), supplementary spending estimates for last year, and the unfortunate Flag Debate.

As I have mentioned on other occasions, the main function of parliament is to approve the government's spending program, which is technically known as the passing by parliament of the Estimates (estimated expenditures) of the various government departments. Normally the passing of Estimates takes from 40 to 50 days of parliament's time each session, and so far only six days have been allowed by the government for the discussion of Estimates. It is for this reason that there has been unusually long discussions when the government has asked for Interim Supply, which means the advancing of money to the government to pay its bills when the Estimates have not been passed. As far as I have been able to ascertain, in no other session of parliament has the discussion of spending Estimates been so long delayed; one can only wonder why? Likewise, as I have already mentioned, the legislative program of the government has really only just begun to appear before parliament; the reason apparently being that the legislation has only now been prepared for presentation. The promised legislation to set up Student Loans is apparently still not drafted, and the fall school term is rapidly approaching.

A great deal has been said in the press and elsewhere that until last week parliament has not been doing the Nation's business, but it is impossible for parliament to do business when it has been presented with neither Estimates nor legislation except in the few above mentioned instances.

The general feeling around Parliament Hill is that the government is very likely to call an election in the fall or perhaps early spring. In any event, opinion here is that the government must call an election before the next budget is presented. Despite election promises, the last budgetary deficit was almost the greatest in peacetime history, and since then government expenses have been increasing at an astronomical rate. The extension of Family Allowances will cost about $65 million, and legislation to provide additional payments to the provinces, which will be discussed this coming week, will amount to about another $85 million. These are just two of the many increases in government spending. In all likelihood the next budgetary deficit will be simply enormous, and unless steps are taken to hold this deficit in check (or reduce it), there will probably be a serious financial crisis in Canada, caused by both national and international doubts about the financial soundness of our economy. To prevent such an enormous deficit, the government will be obliged to raise taxes, and financial experts around here estimate that income tax might have to be raised as much as 8 to 10%. This, of course, would be very unpopular politically, and it is for this reason that many observers feel that there must be an election before the next budget is presented.

Time will tell if these predictions are correct.
